22 Kitchener Road, Merredin

A lovely old heritage railway house!!!

This is one of those beautiful old brick and tin heritage railway houses built in 1920.

This home features the typical grand entrance hallway with the two front bedrooms of either side of the front of the hall (both with floorboards) and then leads you down to the formal lounge room on the right and the kitchen on the left.

Both the bedrooms and the lounge room have open fireplaces and the ornate style mantle pieces and are all serviced by the ducted evaporative air conditioning (as well as the kitchen).

The whole house features the typical high ceilings which help to keep you cool in summer and venetian blinds throughout the house as well.

The kitchen features timber cupboards plus the open fireplace and a gas oven and stove.

The third bedroom is at the rear of the house and enters into the rear laundry room area.

The bathroom is very neat with the shower over the bath, floorboards and tiling to the walls.
