46 Telegraph Rd, Toodyay

! Now Here Is a Challenge !

Circa 1890

A huge approx. 1600m2 block covered in mature trees and shrubs creating a green haven and the old burnt out ruins of a once wonderful mud brick house.

The home was built of locally made mud bricks and has stood the test of time until last year when a savage fire ripped through it and now only the shell remains, it was known as Jane Clarkson's Cottage and was built in 1890.

This is a chance to own a piece of Toodyay's history that is still recorded in the Shire of Toodyay's municipal heritage inventory as a category 3. This means it can be retained and conserved or it can be Photographed and then demolished. The Shire would like the old ruins to be retained into a new build if possible but it is not mandatory.

So here is a chance to create something very special for you.

The grounds and gardens are wonderful.
